

Frank Peele – Bio for Desert Camera Club

Frank Peele retired after thirty years in the U. S. Navy as a photographer and photo officer, and has served as national president of the National Association of Naval Photography. He is now a semi-retired commercial and fine art photographer, with over sixty years' experience in our profession. He is active in the Inland Empire Professional Photographers and Videographers (IEPPV), where he is a past president and honorary life member. He is a Hall of Fame member and qualified competition judge of the Professional Photographers of California, and a Certified Professional Photographer of the Professional Photographers of America. He is also a long-time member of the Redlands Camera Club, where he served four terms as president and leads the club's extensive education programs. Frank earned bachelor's and master's degrees in film and television from USC. He has taught a five-day course in macro photography each of the past two years at the University of San Diego for the Professional Photographers of California.
